Introduction

If I were to start my own church, what would it be like. When I first heard this term, having been born and lived in the West all my life, it sounded compelling and I wondered what that would be like. Rather than go find a preexisting “Cowboy Church” I thought it would be better to imagine one that I could design from the ground up and use the nuggets of wisdom I have acquired through my life.

Been a westerner, I had been raised in an environment that promotes a simple life and common sense. I'm very analytical and try to draw from different observations of like and see if they can be applied in new but simpler ways.

I'm not looking to replace my place of worship at Living Messiah, but rather extending my ministry by leveraging online resources and maybe some of these things will effect LMM...who knows. The ministry therefore would be to teach the things listed below.

Initial implementation Friday night have an online Sabbath with a custom liturgy and a Scrum like standup of accomplishments, challenges and next week's goals.
